

ABOUT YARRAM

The town is the regional centre of a prosperous farming district. It has a vibrant community, which remains dedicated to a strong sporting culture. The town also has a strong tourism industry, with Tarra Bulga National Park, Port Albert, Ninety Mile Beach and Agnes Falls all being within a 30-minute commute from Yarram. The town has become a wonderful arts hub, with the addition of the Heesco Murals dotted throughout the town.

Yarram Yarram, is thought to be an aboriginal phrase meaning "plenty of water". However it is unknown which language this is taken from. The traditional custodians of the land surrounding Yarram are the Brataualung people of the Kurnai People.

As you enter Yarram, you are greeted by the sculpture of Nerran a Gunaikurnai Warrior who is tricked by a mischievous spirit, and drowns while hunting Ngurran the Emu. The spirits of Nerran and Ngurran fly up into the sky becoming the moon and the Southern Cross. The piece was created by local artists Deb Milligan and Col Little.
